Air Force dance set for tonight

With the federal inspection behind them, AF ROTC cadets will conclude this year's activities with the first Military Ball tonight from 9 to 1 at Peony Park.

Besides dancing to the music of Tony Pastor and his orchestra, other activities for the evening include presentation of the Arnold Air Society, the Angel's Flight, cadet colonels and honorary officers. President Milo Ball will give the opening address.

Pat Cosford, Joanne Gross, Ruth Longville, Marilyn Sibert, Phyllis Wilke and June Williams will serve as honorary officers. They were elected by members of the Arnold Society.

Honored guests include the Regents of the university, Mayor Glenn Cunningham, Superintendent of Schools Harry A. Burke, SAC personnel and army, navy and ROTC representatives.

Arnold Air Society pledges will usher.

Alumni will honor TV executive at banquet

Ad Schneider's face is going to be red. It's bound to be after the alumni in charge of publicity for Achievement Day get through with their honoree.

Lately, for their purposes, they've pulled skeletons out of Schneider's past that might embarrass the Head of NBC-TV's Special Events and News Department.

The latest tells of high school grad Schneider's first entry into New York. It was via cattle train and Schneider looked anything but the executive, with his typewriter and belongings wrapped in a big woolen blanket. At least, though it's not recorded, we can assume that he had a certain air about him.

He made another trip east too, this one on a motorcycle.

For Achievement Day, Schneider will fly home to Omaha.

The banquet at which Schneider will be honored is Saturday, May 31, in the auditorium.

Nine air cadets get high awards

Awards to outstanding Air Force ROTC cadets at Omaha University were given to the individuals at yesterday's first ROTC inspection parade in the stadium. Nine cadets received merit for outstanding work.

The cadets and the medals they received are:

American Legion Medal awarded to the cadet displaying the most inspiring example of decisiveness, initiative and resourcefulness—Cadet Colonel Robert Darrah.

Veterans of Foreign Wars Medal awarded to the cadet demonstrating outstanding qualities of leadership and command—Cadet Colonel Robert Stryker.

President's Medal awarded to the cadet attaining the highest scholastic achievement—Cadet Captain Burton McMillan.

Air Force Association Medal awarded to the cadet who has shown exceptional progress in the field of Air Science—Cadet Lt. Col. William Ryan.

Professor of Air Science and Tactics Medal awarded to the cadet who has made the greatest contribution to the Air Force ROTC program—Cadet Captain Robert Biegel.

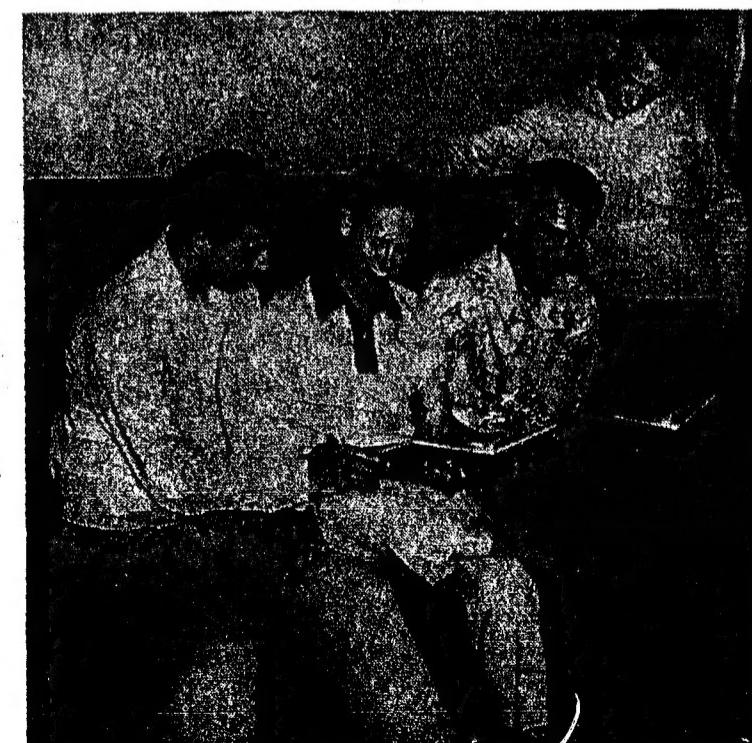

Chicago Tribune Medals awarded to basic cadets who have distinguished themselves as outstanding students during the first or second semester of their academic year:

Cadet M. Sgt. Raymond Kirchner, Cadet T. Sgt. John Jeter, Cadet Cpl. Roger Dumbier, Cadet T. Sgt. Merlyn D. Fratt.

Attention seniors!

A reminder to all seniors who have not paid for the senior banquet tickets:

You can pay your $5.50 to any of the class officers. Seniors who have already paid their money for the banquet and do not plan to attend should contact Don West as soon as possible.

AF board promotes Darrah, Stryker to ROTC colonels

Two Air Force ROTC cadets who distinguished themselves in all examinations and leadership were named colonels to command the cadet wing at Omaha University. Robert Stryker and Robert Darrah were promoted to the top rank by unanimous approval of the Air Force Board.

First duties were assumed yesterday afternoon when one of the colonels took over command of the wing's first federal inspection. The other colonel will command at the Military Ball tonight.

The rapid rise of Darrah and Stryker has "amazed" both Major Robert Whaley, commandant of cadets, and Colonel Allen Wood, commander of the unit. The two officers did not think that any cadet would meet the standards for Cadet Colonel rank the first year.

They appeared before a board including the entire AF ROTC staff and University administrators. "The board considers both men capable of commanding any cadet wing in the nation," said Col. Wood.

Students must apply for scholarships soon

It's time for university students to make application for scholarships and grants for the academic year beginning in September.

Applications must be filed with the Committee on Scholarships and Grants no later than June 2.

Forms are available in the Dean of Students office, room 272.

OU panel gives talks to civic organizations; groups' itinerary full

Omaha University's Panel of Americans initial appearance has blossomed into many guest appearances before civic clubs and organizations.

The panel, made up of Catholic, Jewish, Protestant and Negro members plus a moderator, presents its views on problems of racial and religious discrimination and intolerance, and tries to offer solutions to these problems.

The Panel's first discussion on Apr. 29 has resulted in solid booking until the end of the school term. Audience participation in the discussion following the panel presentation has stimulated high interest in the panel.

The Panel of Americans recently received recognition in the "New York Times" for its presentation. The panel is the first of its kind in Nebraska. "For now, we will sign off until fall," announced Tyson, "but the considerable interest indicates a need that we can serve."

Lit mag arrives next week

This week the Tomahawk, next week, "Grain of Sand."

That's the outlook for Omaha University's new literary magazine, scheduled to hit the university newsstands Monday.

Contents of the initial edition are seven short stories, six poems and one essay. Contributors are all students.

Dr. Ralph Wardle, magazine sponsor, said that the staff of student editors was forced to reject a number of excellent stories because of space limitations.

The cover was drawn in ink by Anne McConney and carries out the sand theme with an hourglass.

Editors relax as yearbook arrives

Did you ever see a "sign of relief"?

You could have Wednesday had you been in the Tomahawk office. Gathered in their "plush" office were most of the staff members and the sighs were such that bystanders could almost make them out.

The reason was obvious if you noticed the crowd gathering in front of the cloakroom in the lower hall.

The Tomahawks had arrived. The first 400 editions disappeared like lingerie in a campus dormitory on a spring night. Ditto the second truck-load. The remainder arrived yesterday and today.

Students must present their activity cards to obtain a '52 yearbook.

A May bouquet

Comes the end of the year, and the time for handing out verbal bouquets rolls around.

A tardy but sincere bouquet of congrats goes to the Ma-ie Day committees and over-all chairman Joan Bugbee for the long and tedious job well done—and especially to our Princess, Glo Johnson.

Next we say "well done" to the Tomahawk staff, who succeeded in turning out a superior yearbook in time for the students to see it.

Third, we extend a preliminary word of encouragement and congratulations to the students and faculty compiling works for our first literary magazine, "A Grain of Sand." They deserve special note for tackling something new and different for the university.

Finally, we print our wishes for a successful Military Ball this evening. The ROTC has gone all out to make this event one of the biggest in Omaha—something for the university to be proud of. This Ball puts us in rank with the rest of the larger schools.

Attend it tonight and present your own personal "bouquet" of congratulations.

Poll on Acheson reveals varied student opinions

According to a recent poll, one in every three college students hasn't made up his mind about Secretary of State Acheson. Of the other two-thirds, a slight majority disapproves of the job Acheson is doing.

Many comments run like this: "I don't know a thing about it!" "Don't know all the facts;" "Haven't paid much attention lately."

Graduate students were more decided than other students. Only 18 percent of them expressed "no opinion," while 36 per cent of the freshmen interviewed expressed no ideas. Forty-two per cent of the graduates approve of Acheson.

Undergraduates had much to say about the Secretary of State. A Business junior from Kansas State Teachers College said "He's selling out our government to the Communists."

But another junior thinks Acheson is "doing a good job in the face of many problems. Any secretary of state will not receive the wholehearted support of the country."

A coed at Northern Oklahoma Junior College thinks Acheson "has catered too much to the 'mink coat' crowd." An education major at Middle Tennessee college disapproved and adds, "Where there is so much smoke, there is bound to be some fire."

Another coed thinks Acheson is "sincere, but misguided."

Two coeds wanted to ride in the parade. They found a car with room for them and were invited to ride. The only catch was that they had to enter the car through the window. A huge poster had been taped over the doors on both sides. Undaunted, the girls gathered up their skirts and dove into the car head first.

After viewing the floats that had not made it to the parade, one student commented, "The biggest news around here today is what DIDN'T happen."

The most appreciative member of the audience at the tribal skits was a five-month-old German Shepherd. Two coeds, "babysitting" with the dog for the weekend, were forced to take him along in order to see the skits.

Two groups of sorority girls have adopted "Only a Rose" as their theme song. Chi O's and Alpha Xi's turn green when anyone mentions the traditional flower. At last count, they think they must have made 50,000 flowers to cover their floats.

From what was heard downtown during the parade, it seems that some people haven't heard about the University of Omaha. Commented one bystander to another, "These Creighton kids sure know how to have fun." Eds. note: Right comment, wrong parade.

A delivery man got the surprise of his life when he drove up the University's east drive before the parade. Members of the staff and faculty broke the monotony of a long wait by applauding vigorously when the truck drove by.

In a cigarette, taste makes the difference—
and Luckies taste better!

The difference between "just smoking" and really enjoying your smoke is the taste of a cigarette. You can taste the difference in the smoother, mellow, more enjoyable taste of a Lucky... for two important reasons. First, L.S./M.F.T.—Lucky Strike means fine tobacco... fine, mild tobacco that tastes better. Second, Luckies are made to taste better... proved best-made of all five principal brands. Omaha U vies with Bluejays

OU meets Creighton in baseball rivalry

Bob Offerjost and Roger Bridenbaugh will be the probable pitching choices when the Indians tangle with the Creighton Bluejays in a two-game series tomorrow and Monday.

Saturday's tilt will be played at Municipal Stadium beginning at 5:30 as a prelim to the Omaha Cardinal Western League play.

Offerjost, with a 2-1 slate, will draw the hurling nod in the first fray while Lynn Hooten and Jerry Welling will be on hand for relief duty if needed.

In Monday's action, Bridenbaugh, the three win OU twirler, will attempt to baffle the Bluejay batters.

Creighton, crippled by the loss of ace throwers Jack Robbins and Dave Federson, will probably retaliate with a trio of pitchers in Pat Nipp, Frank Cimpl, and Don Byers.

Coach Thurman Johnson's Indian infield will line up with Larry Micheels on third base, Don Maseman at short, Bob Mackie at second, and Lee Nelson on the first sack.

John Potts and Bill Duffack are certain first line choices in the outfield with either Bob Schropp or Aksel Schmidt filling the other garden slot.

Backstop chores will be in the capable hands of Steve Marinkovich as Randy McCourt will move into the relief role.

Standouts in the Creighton attack are infielders Ed Benak, Paul Gradoville, and Frank Gollon. In the outfield Coach Subby Salerno has power in Jerry Mancuso and Jack McGraw.

Benak, Mancuso, and McGraw head the Bluejay hitting parade and could very likely prove troublesome to the Omaha cause.

The two game fracas will be the first time that the two schools have clashed on the diamond since 1950 when the Omahans took the measure of the Bluejays 16-3 and 12-5.

The Indians will move into the series with a better record than the Creightonians but that was also the case in the past basketball season.

Golfers whallops Jays, Nebraska

Omaha University golfers turned on their best performance of the season to blast Creighton University 17½-2½.

The Indian foursome compiled a 295 to drub the Bluejays for the second win over their arch rivals this season.

Freshman Dean Wilson fired a scorching 68 over the par 71 Indian Hills course. It was the first par-breaking performance of the year for the Indian links squad.

All team members fired in the 70's for Omaha. Bob Lindberg shot a 72 for second place honors. Jerry Norene and Fred Shinrock had 76 and 79 respectively.

Monday was revenge day for Coach John Campbell's crew. The Indians reversed a previous 2-16 defeat by drubbing Nebraska 15½-2½.

Shinrock and Lindberg were tied for medalist honors for the Omahans, each with 76 over the Happy Hollow course.

OU tennis team nudges Nebraska

After winning four of the five singles matches, the University of Omaha tennis coasted through the doubles matches to down Nebraska 4-2.

It was the second win over the Huskers for Coach Don Pflasterer's team as they blasted the Cornshuckers 6-1 in the first match of the season last month.

Fred Pisarsale continued his victory march with a 6-2, 6-0 win over Tom Harrington, the Nebraska University ace.

Tom Burke downed Mike Holyoke and Don Blocker handed John Tatom, Jr., 6-2, 6-4.

Brendon Gallagher was the only Omahan extended to three sets for a victory, but he came through to nick Walt Weaver 7-5, 3-6, 6-1.

The victory gave the Indians an 8-2 record so far for the season. The two losses came at the hands of Kansas University and Washburn early in the season.

The Omahans have dumped Nebraska, Creighton, Drake, Iowa State, Doane and Midland.

Mural tennis, golf tournament pairings posted as windup nears

Pairings in the intramural tennis and golf tournaments have been posted as the windup in the mural sports season draws to a close.

All contestants are urged to play off their matches as soon as possible due to the nearness of the completion of the school year.

Softball got a belated start with the Blackhawks and Sigma Phi Epsilon gaining first round victories.

Tom Mosiman was the winning pitcher as the Sig Ep's dropped Theta Chi 5-3. Charley Wroblewski took the loss.

Pi Kappa Alpha by virtue of its sweep in the bowling ranks has rocketed into a big lead in the sweepstakes tabulations.

Omahans take double victory from Morningside; Duffack, Micheels hit

Displaying two opposite brands of baseball, Omaha University grabbed a pair of wins from Morningside 14-1 and 6-5 on Monday and Tuesday respectively.

In the Monday home contest, the Indians blasted out 12 runs in the middle frames to hand big Bob Offerjost his second victory of the year.

Bill Duffack broke loose with three safeties to pace the OU attack that garnered six runs in the big seventh inning to ice the contest.

Rain winner as Indians soaked twice at Bradley

Rain thwarted Omaha U's chance at the big time when the Indians were washed out of their weekend two-game jaunt against Bradley in Peoria.

The Illinois school led OU 8-0 in the first inning of the Saturday tilt but a constant downpour ended all hopes of finishing the already muddy contest.

Maroons, Peru invade today; Larsen paces Omaha squad

This afternoon Omaha U trackmen will play host to Simpson and Midland runners in a triangular meet on the Indian oval.

The improving OU squad will be gunning for a win in the last outdoor meet of the season.

Hopes for a victory brightened with the return of freshman Wayne Larsen.

Monday the OU cindermen romped past Peru and Morningside in a triangular meet at OU. The Indians rolled up 84 points to 59 for Peru and 24 for Morningside.

Larsen joined the ranks of double winners with victories in the 440 and 880. He ran the 440 in :52.5 and the latter in 2:09.8. He was also the anchor man on the winning Mile-relay team.

Joe Nalty was up to his old tricks, winning the 100 and 220 yard dashes. He covered the century in :10.2 and the 220 in :22.5.

Roger Dunbier completed the trio of double winners with firsts in the 120-yard high hurdles and the high jump.

After a :16.2 performance in the hurdles, Dunbier came back to win the high jump. He needed only a 5 ft. 9 in. leap to win.

Bob Schropp took the 220-yard low hurdles for OU. After playing four innings of baseball, Schropp rushed to the track to win his specialty in :27.

Mel Decker triumphed in the two-mile with an 11:14.1 clocking.

On the field, burly Larry Johnson gave Omaha U a first by putting the shot 43 ft. 4¾ in.

Keith Christie tied for first in the pole vault with a vault of 11 ft. 6 in. This was duplicated by Ken Clark of Peru.

Jerry Tannahill saved his best leap of the season for Monday when he sailed 22 ft. 5½ in. to nip Marquette Mason of Morningside for first place.

Students must pick up registration material for September in Registrar's office today

You'll never escape it. Cramming for exams hasn't even arrived and already the administration is loading the students for next year.

Looking forward, students must pick up their schedule of classes and registration blanks today in the Registrar's Office. Students who did not see their counselors this week will be assigned appointments by the Registrar. Over 500 students have picked up their registration material.

Fall registration will begin Sept. 8 with physical examinations. The first vacation will be Nov. 26 and Christmas holidays will be Dec. 13 at noon. Vacation will be the same next year.

Classes will begin Sept. 15 for both day school and night school.

Language contests feature of Vocations Week finale

The Foreign Language Department will climax this year's Vocation Week programs next week with French, Spanish and German seminars. Foreign language contests for high school students will be a feature of the meetings.

Foreign languages in the armed forces will be discussed at 10 a. m. Tuesday by Lt. Col. Allen H. Wood. Sharon Erdkamp will speak to high school French students at 2:30 p. m., and a contest will be held at 4 p. m. for high school French students, followed by a French movie.

Foreign language job opportunities in the Omaha area, led by Seb Spagnuolo, export manager of American Coleman Export Corp., will be Wednesday's topic. Frank Ross will speak to high school students of Spanish, followed by a Spanish contest and movie in the afternoon.

Nina McEwen wins state essay contest

Two OU students have won awards in the Nebraska Modern Language Association contest. Nina McEwen, a junior, placed first and Don Lieberknecht, freshman, placed fifth in the 1,000 word essay contest.

For her efforts, Miss McEwen received $25, and Lieberknecht received $5. The essay subject was a "Foreign Language Study Toward World Peace." Students from every college in Nebraska were entered.

New fraternity names officers

Election of officers highlighted the first meeting of Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity, formerly Sigma Lambda Beta, Tuesday evening.

President of the colony next year will be John Stirek. Other officers are Gordon Anderson, vice president; Bernie Briggs, secretary; Sam Nanfito, treasurer, and Marvin Magistretti, social chairman. Ed Marsh will serve as ritualist, with Norman Burke as rush chairman. Cliff Carmony is correspondent.

Ed Marsh has been named delegate to the national Lambda Chi convention to be held at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel in New York City Aug. 31 through Sept. 2.

Others officers are Henry Bolik, historian and publicity chairman, assisted by Clyde Birch and John Stirek and Ed Marsh, IFC representatives.

The Lambda Chi cake float will be used in the military parade on Saturday. This means more wire stretching and napkin stuffing for Lambda Chi members because a driver passing the float on Dodge Street took part of it home on his fender.

Phi Epsilon Pi tags Kahn new superior

Hugo Kahn is the new superior of Phi Epsilon Pi.

Other officers for next semester are Dave Belzer, vice superior; Maynard Tateman, treasurer; Norman Goldenberg, corresponding secretary, and Harry Wise, recording secretary.

Maynard Tateman has been appointed over-all United Jewish Appeal chairman for all college youth in Omaha.

Joseph Melnyk, U. S. Department of Commerce, will speak Wednesday at 11 a. m. on International Trade and Foreign Languages. George Marling will address high school students of German, followed by a German contest and slides of Germany.

Each school is limited to two student entries in each language contest. A prize of $5 will go to the winning student.

Air Force, Navy train graduates in weather jobs

The Air Force and Navy are offering opportunities to graduating seniors for commissioned officer appointments.

The Air Force is looking for men to train as weather forecasters. If you have had a year of physics and a year of mathematics through integral calculus, the Air Force will commission you a second lieutenant and send you to the University of Chicago, the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, New York University, Florida State University or the University of Washington.

For more information, call Offutt Air Base or write to the Air Weather Service, Washington, D.C.

The Navy is offering appointments as unrestricted Line Officers, Staff Corp Officers and Restricted Line Specialists. Candidates must be a graduate of an accredited college or university with a baccalaureate degree or be within 120 days of graduation.

The Restricted Line program includes appointments as specialists in Aerology, Naval Intelligence, Communications, Ordnance, Electronics or Naval Architecture. Direct commissions are also available for women in the Nurse Corps, General Line and Supply Corps.

OUWI banquet features honors

Keynote speaker at the annual OUWI Honors Banquet Monday evening at the Blackstone was Mrs. Elvira Christianson of the physical education department at Nebraska University.

At the dinner plaques were presented to winning teams and individual girls. The bowling plaque went to ISA. In badminton Betty Sheneman took singles honors and Jacque Zerbe and Marilyn Mellam took doubles honors. Chi Omega won the volleyball plaque. Basketball honors went to the unaffiliated team. Doris Akerstrom won honors in archery.

Maxine Kuell, Maridell Myers, Ruth Longville, Beverly Peterson, Marilyn Rogers and Pat Cosford were named to the honorary basketball team.

Corinthians choose Townsend president

Jim Townsend will serve as president of the Corinthian Society for the coming year.

Other new officers for the scholastic honorary are Burt McMillan, vice president, and Nina McEwen, secretary-treasurer.
